A Bright Future For The Pass

A bright future for the Crows Nest Pass district was the prediction of Harold W. Manley, vice-president of Jepherson Lake Sulphur and Petro Chemicals of Canada, and D. P. MacDonald, senior vice-president of Alberta Gas Trunk Lines, who addressed a Coleman Board of Trade meeting on Friday night, December 1st.

Both speakers were introduced to the gathering of some 50 board members and Pass business men, by Mayor Frank Aboussay, who, in his remarks, gave a short resume of the lives and work of both men.

Mayor Aboussay was called upon by Board of Trade Vice-president Jack Ostash, also introduced E. Patro of Coleman Collieries, Abe Dyck of Atlas Lumber Company, Bert Moorhouse of the Blairmore Sawmills, Tony Storcer and Don Duguid of Sarafat Processing, Clint Rasmussen, manager of Jefferson Lake Sulphur, Mr. A. McLeod of Alberta Gas Trunk, J. Connelly of Alta Natural Gas, Bud Davies of Canadian Bechtel Ltd., N. Foster and W. Gordon of Pass construction, W. Ruffe of Marwell Construction, Frank Plowman and John Hansen of Bellevue Board of Trade, John Hogan of Alberta Forestry Department, Mr. Pugsley and Mr. Kraeger of Texaco and Kalin Gillies of Canadian Western Natural Gas Company.

Mr. Gillies was then called upon for a short address and in his remarks pointed out that the survey being made by his company in the Crows Nest Pass regarding the installation of gas service to homes, was progressing favorably and that so far Blairmore had been completed and the response was very good. Bellevue was completed and was very good, and Coleman was presently being canvassed and the canvassers were encountering a number of negative replies, mainly from older persons.

Many of the people, he said, were under the impression that gas service installation would be very costly, but he stated this is not so. He said that cost of the line to residences would be about one dollar per foot of pipe from the lot line to the meter.

He said that coal furnaces and household appliances could be very successfully converted at a very moderate price providing the furnaces were in reasonable condition. Mr. Gillies urged the local business men, Board of Trade and council to help alleviate the misunderstanding of many residents that gas installations are sky high in price as he emphasized that this was not so.

Mr. D. P. MacDonald, the next speaker, was highly impressed with the resources and potentials of the Crows Nest Pass area and felt that this area was the best located for industrial development in Canada. He mentioned numerous raw materials that were in evidence here, and felt that many complemented one another and although he could not say that this district would develop immediately, he felt that the valley has the best potential for industry in Canada.

Mr. MacDonald gave a detailed outline of the gas history in the province of Alberta.

He stressed the important part that the Savanna Creek field had played in leading to the export of gas to the States, and he added that as soon as the companies concerned get back a few of the many dollars spent on the local project that more money would be pumped into this area.

He said that there was a possibility of a loop line being built and that the local plant at Sentinel would be expanded during the next five years. He also said that another one or two wells would be drilled in the area for an indefinite period of time. The reason, he said, for a smaller plant than had been anticipated being built at Coleman, was the result of the gas find at Savanna being less than was expected.

He said that wells had been drilled east, west and north of Savanna and now explorations would probably move in a southerly direction towards the Crows Nest Pass.

He stated that the plant at Coleman was now complete and that every humanly possible measure for safety had been incorporated into the plant and that Savanna had made its first delivery of gas December 1st in the amount of 22 million cubic feet.

The next speaker, Harold W. Manley, opening his remarks with the statement that business opportunities here are unlimited, went on to paint a very bright future for the Crows Nest Pass and also the sulphur industry.

Born in Tulsa, Oklahoma, Mr. Manley gave a short resume of his life, stating that the sulphur company began in Louisiana in 1928-1929, and today was the third largest in the United States and that they sold sulphur all over the world. He said the reason the company came to Canada was because of the fact that they believed in the Canadian economy.

The plant at Coleman, he said, is evidence of our confidence of the world's need for sulphur. The plant at Coleman would produce some 377 long tons of sulphur per day. The local plant is the third one built and completed since 1958 as the other two were built at Fort St. John and Calgary.

He said that the Savanna field had sulphur reserves proven to-day representing about 54 million tons—adding "we represented 24 per cent of the reserves in Western Canada and expect to expand to meet the increasing world demand."

Mr. Manley then gave an interesting talk on the history of sulphur back to the times of Homer, and in brief explained how sulphur is recovered from gas.

Mr. Manley mentioned only a few of the hundreds of industries that have use of sulphur and, quoting a few statistics, he indicated that in 1956 India used between 55 and 60 thousand tons of sulphur in one year and in 1961, five years later, this figure had soared to an unbelievable 350 thousand tons and the figure was increasing.

Sulphur consumption, he said, is the true index of a country's industrial activity. He stated that they foresaw that before 1970, unless more sulphur is found, that there will be a shortage of sulphur in the world as the rate of consumption is increasing at a rate of some four and a half to five per cent annually.

He said that here we were blessed with some 54 million tons and the company were going to try to find more.

Stock piling of sulphur above the ground, he stated, was definitely not an indication that there were no markets for sulphur. It was due to various government controls. Sulphur, he said, is one of the basic commodities of industry in the world today, and we have here almost five per cent of all the largest sulphur. This, he said, could serve to develop many types of industry in this valley such as steel, chemicals, insecticides, pulp and paper, paints, and many other industries for which many of the other resources can be found in this area.

In concluding his very encouraging and enlightening talk, Mr. Manley disclosed that Ted Rasmussen would be the superintendent of the plant at Coleman.

Both speakers were given a sincere vote of thanks by Horace Allen for their fine addresses and all they had done towards bringing the much appreciated new industry to the Crows Nest Pass.

Prior to the introduction of the speakers, a short business meeting was held for the purpose of forming a Nominating committee to bring in a new slate of officers at the next meeting.

The committee comprises Hor-

Coleman Grands Lose and Win

Ed Melville Gets Hat Trick Over the week-end of November 25 and 26 the Coleman Grands split a double-header — losing to the Calgary Buffaloes by a score of 5-2 on Saturday evening, then on Sunday afternoon trimming the strong Great Falls Americans by a score of 10-6.

The Grands used two goal-tenders on the week-end — Joe Joseph played between the pipes on Saturday, with Earle Young playing for the Grands on Sunday afternoon against the Great Falls club.

The Grands came out of the two game series with four points as the game played with the Great Falls Americans was a 4-point encounter.

All games this season with Great Falls are to be four-point games as the Grands will only meet the Americans four times, while they meet all the other teams eight times.

The Grands now have three wins and three losses for a total of 6 points.

In Saturday's game, the two Coleman goals were scored by Lionel Martini and Fritz Churla with Steve Lyons, Barry Fraser and Scooter Scodellaro getting assists.

On Sunday, Ed Melville, scoring three goals against the Americans for the Grands, playing his second game of the season, came up with the hat trick.

Lionel Martini and Jimmy Navasao each scored twice with Ron Koury, Dick Koentges and Ed Belter picking up singletons.

Assists went to Ted Kryczka with 3, J. Scodellaro with 2, and Jim Novasao, Lionel Martini, Ken Head and Ed Belter with one each.

The Coleman Grands, who seemed lost and disorganized on Saturday night, came to life on Sunday and appeared to be a completely different team throughout.

The officiating of Hincheberger and Biguen on Sunday also appeared to be superior to that of Dunn and Biguen on Saturday.

Former Coleman Man Killed

Dr. Donald Cherry, 32-year-old Calgary dentist, and a former resident of Coleman, was killed in an accident late Thursday evening, November 30th, when the car he was driving hit the curb of a traffic island, went out of control and hit a utility pole.

Dr. Cherry was taken to the Holy Cross Hospital by ambulance and was pronounced dead on arrival.

The accident happened at the intersection of Elbow Drive at Boulevard Crescent and the fatality marks the second at this particular area.

Dr. Cherry, 32 years of age, attended both his public and high school in Coleman, and attended the University of Alberta in Edmonton, where he graduated in dentistry. He served with the Canadian army dental corps and several years ago began a private practice in Calgary.

He was well known in the Crows Nest Pass and especially in baseball and hockey circles, having played for Coleman in both sports. He was of the Protestant Faith.

He was predeceased by his father, Joe Cherry in Calgary, several years ago.

The family had left here to reside in Calgary in the middle '50's. Dr. Cherry is survived by his wife Anne, and his mother, both in Calgary.

Old Time Resident Leaves Coleman

Mrs. J. Derbyshire left last week to reside with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. McKay of Blairmore, for the winter months. She intends to also reside part time with her eldest daughter, and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Smith in Victoria, B. C.

Mrs. Derbyshire has resided in Coleman since 1907, when she accompanied her husband, the late Mr. John Derbyshire here from Tyldesley, Lancs., England.

Many friends and neighbors called to bid her farewell with best wishes for her future happiness, with regrets at the loss of a faithful neighbor.

M.D.A. Tag Day Is Successful

Fire Chief Henry Zak of the Volunteer Fire Brigade, announced on Monday that the tag day held in Coleman Friday, November 24, to raise funds for the Muscular Dystrophy campaign, sponsored annually by the firemen, had realized the sum of approximately $75.00.

Several of the Coleman high school girls were in charge of the donations at the Bank of Commerce.

Meanwhile the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Coleman Legion have also sent in their annual donation to the Muscular Dystrophy campaign.

To date the firemen have some $150.00 raised on the $400 objective they have set for this year's campaign, as another $75.00 was raised recently when the firemen conducted a Gasarama at the Kananaskis Garage.

Canteens have been set up in all stores and places of business and some of the canteenists have been set up in Blairmore business houses.

Mrs. A. Beveridge announced with regret that the gifts ordered for the retiring president and secretary had not arrived up to date, but would be presented at the first meeting in February, also candy canes ordered to use as place cards had not arrived and it was suggested by Mrs. Gould that they be turned over to the Lions Club to be given to needy families.

A letter of greetings and best wishes was read from Mrs. Ethel Kostelnick, now residing at Winnipeg.

The C.G.I.T. girls under the leadership of Mrs. Dunford and Mrs. Horn, very ably put on the Vesper Service, details of which will be found elsewhere in this issue.

The meeting was adjourned by Mrs. L. Bouthillier who also conveyed best wishes to all for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Until 1970 pensons contained no device for folding newspapers as newspaper boys had to fold the papers themselves before starting their routes.

According to reports the Satellite station set up at Burnis is now in operation, and has been since December 1st.

A number of local residents in the Pass towns report that they have installed channel three antennas and as a result they are receiving good reception.

New School Question Aired At Home and School Meeting

The Coleman Home and School Association held its regular monthly meeting in the school auditorium on Monday evening, November 20, attended by a good number of persons.

Attending the meeting were the Coleman Board of Trustees headed by Board Chairman Steve Mraz, who addressed the meeting on the necessity of a new school for Coleman.

Mr. Mraz primarily stated that the increased school population called for the immediate attention of the board. At present the school system could comfortably accommodate a maximum of 600 pupils, while the enrolment at present showed a total of 678. This overcrowding necessitated the board taking such temporary measures as partitioning off the present auditorium into two classrooms, — teaching in the hallway and holding classes in the basement room.

He stressed the fact that even these emergency measures would not solve the situation next September if the anticipated increase in school enrolment materializes.

The meeting was told that the old 16-room wooden structure built at the turn of the century had done noble service for over 50 years, but that it did not come up to the building standards and requirements of present day schools.

The fact that no amount of repair work on the building could bring it up to present 1961 requirements, was stressed.

It was the firm opinion of the board that this building should be abandoned. Crowded playground facilities plus a complete lack of such accommodation as would permit the teaching of shop and home economics make it necessary for this school district to begin a comprehensive building program.

Negotiations have been started with the Department of Education and as a result Coleman has been granted permission to build five classroom schools with facilities for shop, home economics and an auditorium.

Mr. Mraz stated that in his opinion such a building would be totally inadequate for the future.

The Coleman school board has requested assistance from the Department of Education to build a 21-class structure together with such auxiliary rooms for shop, home economics and physical training. The Home and School Association heartily endorsed the action of the school board and expressed the hope that work on this building would commence in the near future.

Fire Chief Henry Zak gave a report that he and Fire Inspector Leyland of Lethbridge had made an inspection of the school recently. The auditorium now converted into two classrooms and the hallway immediately west of the auditorium is used as a typing room, and when the fire drill was conducted it was found that a congestion resulted in this area and prevented fast evacuation via the exits. This congestion could result in a tragic accident should fire ever occur. The auditorium was meant to be used after school hours when there would not be a heavy accumulation of people in the school.

The speakers were given a vote of thanks by President Helen Kropinak, who had introduced the speakers.

The room attendance prize was won by Ted Kryczka room.

The meeting adjourned after a lunch was served by Mrs. M. R. and her committee.

Gas Company Making Survey For Possible Consumers

Coleman town council met this week when it was reported by the Public Works committee that the new town truck had arrived and was being put into service. The unit cost in the near vicinity of $4100.00.

Services of a consulting engineer will be obtained with a view to getting an appraisal of cost and work required to enlarge the present town reservoir serving Coleman with water.

Council also discussed and are considering possible extension of the town limits to include the area north of the trailer park and the baseball field. No definite plans on this have as yet been announced.

Matter of sidewalk work in town was discussed and now that the winter has set in council decided that this work will be continued all over town next spring.

The matter of extending the cemetery boundaries and doing repair work to the fences around the cemetery was discussed and is being looked into by the Parks and Cemetery committee.

It was reported that representatives of the Canadian Natural Gas Company are making a survey of the town of Coleman with a view to finding out how many residents would be possible as consumers.

The council have requested that residents in town co-operate with the gas company personnel when they are approached to answer the questionnaires.

Councillors George Jenkins and Ted Kryczka were elected to the Coleman Light and Water Company directorate.

Channel 3 Now Operating

According to reports the Satellite station set up at Burnis is now in operation, and has been since December 1st.

A number of local residents in the Pass towns report that they have installed channel three antennas and as a result they are receiving good reception.

Vern Gairns, district representative of the A.O.T.S., Pincher Creek, was present at the affair with a number of Pincher Creek members. The Pincher A.O.T.S. are the sponsors for the newly formed Pass group.

The Crows Nest Pass A.O.T.S. will include members from the four Pass United Churches which include St. Paul's of Coleman, Blairmore United Church, the Bellevue United Church and the Hillcrest United Church.

Coleman Man Gets Three Months

John McKinnon of Coleman, was sentenced to three months in the Lethbridge jail when he appeared before Magistrate F. S. Radford of Blairmore, on Friday, November 24 on a charge of pilfering.

McKinnon was caught by the proprietor of the Modern Electric store, Aldo Montalbetti, outside the store on Thursday evening.

He had in his possession a $59.00 radio, a doll, a coffee percolator, and some various tools which he had not paid for.

RCMP Request Full Co-operation

The RCMP request the full co-operation and assistance of all motorists and pedestrians to make "Safe Driving Week" December 1 to 7, sponsored by the Canadian Highway Safety Council a success.

All types of motor vehicle accidents are on the increase this year.

From January 1 to September 30, 1961 - 141 fatal motor vehicle accidents took place in areas policed by the RCMP, with 175 persons being killed and 199 people receiving injuries. During this period there were also 5925 accidents involving personal injury and property damage accidents.

As of June 30 - 70 fatal accidents had taken place on Alberta Highways in 1961 - 16 per cent below the total for the same period last year. Between July and September 71 fatal accidents took place bringing the death toll to 6 per cent below the nine month total for 1960. September was one of the worst fatality months on record and October's death rate continued high.

Of the fatal accidents, 48 were single car accidents, 20 accidents involved pedestrians, 31 accidents were head-on collisions, 9 were rear-end collisions, 23 involved poor driving conditions, 14 tractor accidents, 6 car-train accidents. All could have been avoided.

Eighty-one fatal accidents took place on the main highways and 60 on district roads. Liquor was involved in 46 accidents. The drivers at fault were killed in 77 accidents and prosecutions were entered against 22 other drivers. Of these fatal accidents 84 occurred in the daylight hours with 57 occurring at night.

Most of these accidents were caused by too much speed for road conditions and curves, careless or inattentive driving, liquor and poor driving habits.

Accidents can be greatly reduced both in number and magnitude by the drivers and pedestrians observing the rules of the road, frequent inspections of their lights, brakes and other equipment and by driving and walking in an alert manner.

Increased patrols will be made during "Safe Driving Week" - with common sense and care on the part of drivers, there need be no accidents.

Legion Party December 10

The Ladies' Auxiliary and Coleman Branch of the Canadian Legion are completing plans this week for the annual members' children's party to be held in the club rooms at 2 p.m. on Sunday, December 10th.

Members of the Auxiliary and the Legion have been asked to turn in the names of their children who are 21 years and under, in order that arrangements can be made for their gifts.

The names are to be turned into Zone Commander and Secretary of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Mitti Moore, no later than Thursday, December 7th in order that final arrangements can be completed.

The party will feature movies and games for the young people who will also be treated to pop, ice cream and other goodies, after which Santa will pay his annual visit to the children.

Lauds New Method Mathematics

"Daddy, what's the equation of four?" is likely to be a stock question of second graders next year--and one of the men in this province who knows more about why grade two's will bother their heads with equations instead of 'numbers' is Professor Sidney Axel Lindstedt, born and brought up in Staveley.

The son of a Staveley pioneer homesteader, now outstanding in math-education on the faculty at University of Alberta, Calgary branch, his doctorate was a special study of teaching mathematics from its simplest to its most difficult.

An enthusiastic advocate of the new methods of teaching math - which starts tots with simple problems and simple equations in Gr. II, he says math is far more than arithmetic.

Like his father (a consistent Canada Savings Bond buyer), mathematician Lindstedt also advocates buying Canada Saving Bonds for purchases--"a much more logical way than making long installment payments with compound interest that almost doubles the price". (He used his first bonds to buy a home... "would have liked a handful more to tide him over his leave of absence last year for his post-graduate work at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, which is a recognized centre for the new methods of teaching mathematics.")

Professor Lindstedt's theories are backed by practical experiences on the faculty of education at the Calgary branch of the University of Alberta for the past six years and a total of 25 years teaching, 13 of them in southern Alberta schools.

No rebel, the professor is well satisfied with the progress of mathematics in the present system. His three children range from grade 4 to 12). But he is keen to see results of the new methods. Already tried out in 150 classes over the province, the 'new way' - M instead of R-is slated for all Alberta schools in the next few years.

Math is due to come into its own - Problem solving and the simple equations give it the true status of a science - like physics and chemistry, rather than a means of figuring taxes and earnings or working out equations in other sciences.

The import of the new trend is to teach arithmetic for its own sake," says Prof. Lindstedt, who predicts modern mathematics is due for such an overhaul all over the western world.

The son of a Staveley wheat farmer, always mathematics minded, the professor was a top southern Alberta scholar in grade 12, a Kiwanis scholarship winner, and is grateful for many more scholarships which helped him on his way.

But for those who are good all 'round students, he agrees Canada Savings Bonds are a logical way for parents to assist their children's education.

Aquarium News

The ardent angler who remarks on visiting the Calgary Aquarium "what a place to have a fishing rod!" is nearer to fact than he might suspect; there is a well-used fishing rod at the Aquarium, and it makes a successful "catch" every day.

The fishing tackle belongs to the "Angler Fish", a marine species often called the "Hawaiian Frog Fish", which is endowed with a "built-in fishing rod", a slender antenna-like appendage above its nose with which it attracts its food.

The Angler Fish - ugly, slow-moving and clumsy-is a poor swimmer; in its natural habitat it walks and climbs with ungainly gait over the sea's coral beds, clinging to them by working its lower fins and side fins independently in the manner of rudimentary arms.

Even when hungry, it will not pursue the small fish which are its diet, but depends upon attracting them to itself. To do so, it waves its "built-in fishing rod" vigorously back and forth in the water. The small fish, attracted by the sight, attempts to strike the rod, whereupon the angler fish opens its mouth and gulps down the "catch".

A recent gift of the Waikiki Aquarium at Hawaii, the Angler Fish is now on display at the Calgary Aquarium located on the Calgary Brewery grounds at 9th ave., and 15th street S. E. in Calgary.

The Aquarium is open to the public from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and from 12:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. Sundays. There is no admission charge.

What is a calumet?

This is the name, of French origin, commonly used for the hollow shaft through which tobacco was blown during Indian ceremonies.

Calumets are frequently spoken of as pipes and, in fact, no rigid division can be drawn between the two. Ceremonial smoking took place frequently in connection with agreements between tribes, especially peace treaties.

From this fact comes the well-known expression "pipe of peace", symbolizing the mutual ceremonial smoking of tobacco.

Tobacco was cultivated by the Indians of southern Ontario and parts of the prairies and from these two areas it was traded for a considerable distance, so that the area of tobacco smoking was considerably wider than that of tobacco growing.

Generally speaking, the Indians thought of the burning of tobacco as a sacrifice of one of the products of Mother Nature. Thus, smoking was not a mere indulgence but had elements of religious significance then.

District Court News

Adolf John Stang of Marysville, B. C., had his conviction under section 223 of the Criminal Code (Impaired Driving) set aside on appeal by Chief Judge E. B. Feir, of Lethbridge in District Court, held in Blairmore on Friday, December 1st.

Stang was convicted by Magistrate F. S. Radford of Blairmore on the charge and was fined $100 and costs on October 11, 1961, and had his drivers licence suspended for six months.

The charge arose out of a collision near Bellevue on September 16th between Stang's car and a light delivery truck driven by Frank Dececco of Coleman.

Judge Feir decided that there was not sufficient evidence to convict the accused and he should be given the benefit of the doubt.

T. J. Costigan conducted the appeal for Stang and D. V. Hartigan of Lethbridge, prosecuted for the Crown.

In a civil case by William Fleming of Lundbreck, against Thomas Fleming and Lloyd Fleming, Chief Justice Feir decided that the 1955 truck over which the case was held belonged equally to William Fleming and his wife Ruth Fleming, and did not pass to the wife under a separation agreement between the parties.

Several other actions were adjourned.

Ernie Jamison

Ernie Jamison of The Ponoka Herald was elected president of the Alberta Weekly Newspapers' Association during the group's 58th annual convention at Edmonton's Macdonald Hotel October 13 and 14. He succeeds Jack Parry of The Rimbey Record.

Named first and second vice-presidents, respectively, were Dick Hawk of Nanton News and Ron Newsom of Bashaw Star. Ken Patridge of Camrose Canadian was re-elected association secretary.

Directors for the coming term will include Hee McLean of Fairview Post, George Meyer of Camrose Canadian, Lou Drouin of St. Paul Journal and Will Horton of Vegreville Observer.

Streamlined ski pants

Stretch pants did for skiers what tank suits did for swimmers. They made things more functional and more streamlined all around.

A Canadian ski-wear designer was the first to try the new stretch fabrics in 1950. Although the first fabrics were heavy and less stretchy than today's vastly improved versions, they caught on.

Now the demand for stretch ski pants is met by a huge variety of fabrics. The stretch nylon yarns are combined with wool, viscose, or rayon in an enormous range of colors as well as stripes, checks and plaids.

Stretch fabrics also get the credit for the acceptance of bright colors for ski pants.

As avoided brighter shades for their former rigid trousers. These needed to be cut fairly generously and with wear became quite sloppy in appearance, so subdued black, brown and navy were preferred shades.

Sleek stretch pants were so streamlined there was no need to stick to dark slenderizing shades. Today's ski slopes are sparked by vivid turquoise, reds or canary yellow.

The stream lining has not been left to the fabric alone. Now hidden zippers, inside belts, concealed pockets and new methods of styling all increase the smartness and comfort of the garment.

Rigid fabrics have almost entirely given way to the stretchy types and some makers deplore this.

They claim the market is flooded with inferior stretch fabrics which discredit the better quality ones. ing skill, they claim, just as much as Good stretch pants require tailor-rigid fabrics.

Have character—don't be one.

THE INTRODUCTION
IN ALBERTA
OF
(WESTERN) LIMITED AND
PRODUCTS

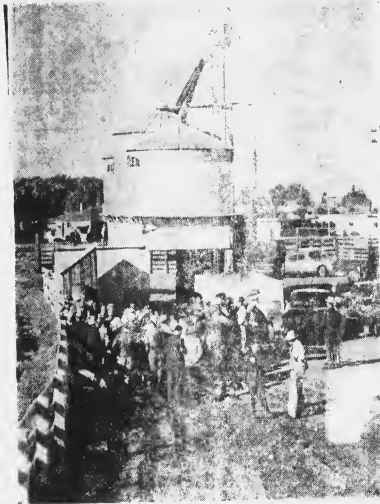

A great Canadian brewing company has now entered the Alberta Market, and will operate the plant of The Big Horn Brewing Company Limited which will henceforth be known as DOW BREWERY (WESTERN) LIMITED manufacturing DOW products for sale in Western Canada.

The longest-established brewery in Canada and one of the nation's largest, Dow has historic associations with the three great names in the Canadian brewing industry, having been founded by Thomas Dunn in 1790, partnered by William Dow in 1818, and amalgamated with the Dawes brewery in 1909.

The Dow Quebec City plant — though one of the most modern in Canada — is located on the site of Canada's first brewery built by the Intendant of New France, Jean Talon, in 1668. The vaults of the DOW plant at Quebec are the original storehouse used to stock the colonists' "biere" nearly 300 years ago.

Set Meeting In Lethbridge

The 47th annual meeting of the Alberta Division, Canadian Red Cross Society, will be held at the Civic Centre in Lethbridge on February 28, 1962.

Mr. G. C. Lancaster of Calgary, Provincial President of the Alberta Red Cross, will preside at the one-day session to be attended by Red Cross representatives from throughout the province.

A True Romance — No Fairy Tale

"There was once a young bachelor who decided not to sow wild oats before he was married. Instead he decided to buy Canada Savings Bonds so that when he was married, he and his bride could move into a house of their own and live in style from the very moment he carried her over the threshold. The young man who determined that threshold would not be bare had no idea when he would marry. He figured it would take at least seven years to make his dream come true. Toward the end of that time, he might start looking.

Romance caught up with him a little before he expected — in five years. But he was ready for it even then. He had nine thousand dollars saved in Canada Savings Bonds. For three years he had bought $1,500 a year, and for two, (after a raise,) $2,000. This was enough to buy a house, furniture and a car — which he did, and lived happily ever after."

Mr. Charles Percy, Machine Accountant for Northwest Industries, Edmonton, who told this true-life story, says people use payroll deduction bonds for living with a capital L. They make payments on new homes, cars, take holidays, pay hospital bills for babies or operations, taxes — and in some cases, buy fur coats. Mr. Percy handles the payroll deductions for the bonds in his company.

"One of the most pleasant jobs is handing out these bonds — The fellows' eyes invariably light up when they make the wondering observation, 'I never missed the deduction — it's like found money now,'" he says.

Mr. Percy says Canada Savings Bonds sell easily for three reasons: They are automatic savings, give good returns, and are instant cash for emergencies.

Place names intrigue most people

Few people are immune to the magic of place-names. Some of these, such as Samarkand and Valumbrosa, are musical in themselves and their poetical or historical associations only enhance their magic. Others, such as Rome, Paris or London, depend for their spell simply on their history. With others, particularly in England, it is the quaintness that attracts. Witness Stoke Potes or Chipping Campden.

Canada is fortunate in having quaint, historical and commonplace names. The musical names have not been widely recognized, because they are unknown to the world at large and not well known to Canadians themselves. The banks of Saskatchewan were immortalized in a musical comedy song many years ago, but other parts of Canada remain unknown. Yet who is to say that the name of Samarkand may not have romantic dreams of Paganamook. P.Q.?

Canada's historical names are often derived from the history of other countries. It must have been an admirer of Lord Nelson who named three places in Halton County, Ontario, Palermo, Bronte and Trafalgar; the name of nearby Hamilton is just a coincidence. Strong religious feeling may have suggested the naming of New Jerusalem. N. B. What feeling, if any, lay behind the naming of Cobocook, Ont.?

Religious feeling is also evident in the great number of communities named after saints. Nearly all the saints in the calendar must be represented. One, undoubtedly Welsh in origin is St. Jones, Nfld. The date and occasion of his canonization are not available in any handy book of reference.

The trial of the homesick Scot may be traced across the map of Canada from New Edinburgh, N. S. to Fife, I. C. There are three places named New Glasgow, one in Prince Edward Island, one in Nova Scotia and one in Quebec.

There are quaint names in plenty. Possibly the inhabitants of the places called Quaw, B. C. and Wileless Bay, Nfld., are so used to them that the names sound commonplace, but to the outsider they will suggest curious stories lying behind them.

Grands Win One, Lose One

Coleman Grands of the Big Six Hockey League won one of their last two home games and lost one.

The Grands took a "close one" from the Taber Chiefs by a score of 7-6 on Wednesday, November 29th and then lost a tough one to the league-leading Calgary Adderson Club by a 5-3 count.

On Wednesday the Grands led all the way. Ed Belter was the big gun for the Grands. He turned the hat trick on the Taber goalie by putting three pucks in the net, while his linemate Ken Head added two more.

In this game Coleman played without Lynes, Young, Novesl, and Martini. However, the youngsters playing in their places turned in a good game, enabling the Grands to come out on top.

On Saturday Coleman played their best home game of the season, only to lose to the league-leading Adderson team by a score of 5-3.

Grands got off to a slow start, and within six minutes the Adderson team had scored two goals. However, when the first period had ended Coleman were only behind by a 2-1 count and at 1:45 of the second period Scodellaro tied the score at 2-2. Adderson scored at the nine-minute mark and the score ended 4-2 on 3, Coleman 2 at the end of the second period.

Adderson went ahead 4-2 at the 3:20 mark of the third period, only to have Paul Filewich put the Grands back in the game at 5:15. The Grands kept pressing the very strong Adderson team but could not beat Gillett in the nets.

At the 11:04 mark, Haley of the Adderson team got a break away and led a hot sizzler go bouncing towards the net and McFarlan beat Young in the Coleman net from only 8 feet out.

Young played an outstanding game for the Grands and on 4 of the 5 goals scored he had no chance whatsoever.

Ron Yanosik, playing his first game for Coleman, turned in an outstanding performance— with a few more games it is likely that Yanosik will be the most outstanding defenceman in the league.

With the exception of Ken Head, the Grands had their full club out as from here on in the locals are going to be hard to beat.

Hockey fans not attending games do not realize just what kind of hockey they are missing. So let's have a full turnout for the Coleman Grands next home game.

Remember, our hockey team can play much better hockey before a full house than when there is only 400 fans, as was the case on Saturday night against the Calgary Adderson club.

The Shattuck Cattle Co. of Hastings, Nebraska, was the largest U.S. buyer with the Matchett Ranches of Dupuyer, Mont., a close second. Wesley Ranch of Granum and Lee Trimmer of Duchess were two of the major Alberta buyers.

Ken Hurlbut of Lethbridge, Archie Boyce of Calgary, and Charlie Roschell of Olds, were the auctioneers, and the sale was managed by Austin L. Moody of Longmont, Colorado. Billy Holtman of Taber, Alberta, owner of the Shipwheel Ranch, said that this sale reduced his herd approximately one-half.

Hospital Enjoy Party

The annual Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital Christmas party was held in the Catholic hall on Friday evening, and was combined with a farewell party in honor of former hospital administrator V. J. Horejsi of Frank, who has recently resigned his position in favor of accepting a position on the Provincial Government Hospital Administration Department.

The party began in the early evening with a banquet supper catered to by the Coleman Catholic Women's League.

Following the supper Stu Murdoch, chairman of the hospital board, called upon Mr. Horejsi, and on behalf of the hospital staff and his many friends, presented the guest with a set of luggage.

In making the presentation to Mr. Horejsi, he commended him for his many years of fine service with the hospital, stating that he had always been most co-operative and efficient in all hospital affairs.

Mr. Murdoch stated the board was grieved at losing such an efficient administrator. In concluding his address, he wished Mr. Horejsi every success in his new work.

Mr. Horejsi expressed deep appreciation of the fine gifts he had received from his friends and the hospital staff and expressed his sorrow at leaving the work at the local hospital, but hoped his new work would be as pleasant as his past association with the local hospital.

The remainder of the evening was then enjoyed in dances with spot dances and bingo games being enjoyed by the large attendance.
